PRICE TWO CENTS

SENATE AGAINST ANY CUTS IN INCOME TAX

Republican Leaders Plan Continuous Sessions Until Bill is Passed

DELAYED BY DEBATES

Amendments Offered By Democrats
Gain Only Two Republican Votes
For Measures.

Three amendments for the reduction in normal tax rates on individual incomes were rejected by the Senate yesterday by overwhelming votes. Only three Republicans voted in favor of any amendment, all of which were sponsored by Democrats.

Announcement that the Republicans will seek to hold the Senate in continuous session today and night, beginning tomorrow, until the tax bill is disposed of, was made last night following a day of fruitless efforts to expedite consideration of the measure. Although in session for seven hours the Senate failed to dispose of even the paragraph relating to normal taxes, which neither the House nor the Senate Finance Committee has attempted to change in any material respect.

The all day and all night sessions were proposed in a formal agreement circulated among Republican Senators and signed last night by nearly forty. It is expected that more than a majority of the total membership of the Senate will sign before tomorrow. The agreement was drafted by Senator Moses, of New Hampshire, and circulated by Senator Capper, of Kansas, and was as follows:

"We, the undersigned Republican Senators, agree that beginning Wednesday, October 26, we shall remain continuously in the Capitol or within call for quorum calls, or a vote until the pending tax bill is finally disposed of."

Senator Penrose announced the program for day and night sessions to the Senate at the end of yesterday's session, after Senator Ashurst, of Arizona, Democrat, had severely upbraided the Republican leaders for their inability to expedite action.

"Why doesn't the Republican majority move with celerity?" "Why don't you courageously hold night sessions? It is an insult to the intelligence of the American people to permit such an exhibition day after day. Don't you see you won't pass this bill until Christmas?"

Senator Reed, of Missouri, Democrat, who had occupied a considerable amount of time during the day in a speech covering a wide range of subjects, replied to Senator Ashurst, inquiring why the Democrats should hasten the progress of the bill.

"I have no objection to the Republican party going out and committing suicide," said Senator Reed, "but I don't want the country murdered by the Republican party before it commits suicide."

Union Services at 7.45 P. M.

Special Services At Methodist Protestant Church

The union services being held at this church have become very popular and helpful. A large gathering of people was on hand last evening and heard Rev. D. H. Martin, pastor of Trinity M. E. Church, deliver a heart-searching sermon at the close of which many came forward and decided to lead Christian lives. The singing was fine, good old time songs.

This evening we will have with us, Rev. H. C. Campbell, pastor of one of our churches in Washington, D. C. Come out and hear this man, there will be special singing.

Tomorrow evening at 7:45, the pastor of the church, the Rev. Robert Browne, will tell the story of his life which is a thrilling one. The Rev. Browne has served as an official in the British Army for thirteen years, serving in three wars, India, Egypt and South Africa. He also served in West Africa. This man, over twenty years would not enter a church, nine years ago last Sunday, he gave his heart to Christ, and since that time he has been engaged in helping his fellow men to lead a Christian life. Don't miss this. Come. Everybody welcome.

Address Tomorrow Night

W. J. Kendrick, of the laymen's missionary movement of the south, at 7:45 o'clock tomorrow evening, will deliver a lecture principally to men in the lecture room of the First Baptist Church. All members of the Baraca Class of the church are invited to attend.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the city council will be held tonight. The funeral of Mrs. Harvey Summers took place this afternoon from Trinity M. E. Church, Rev. Dr. H. Martin, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Union cemetery.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

From Our Special Correspondent

Washington, Oct. 25.—Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury was one of the most popular men at the National Capital yesterday afternoon when he made the announcement that he had signed the regulations permitting physicians to issue prescriptions calling for the use of beer and wine for medicinal purposes. Hereafter, anyone who is ailing and feels in the need of a little stimulant can get a case of beer—two and a half gallons—or two quarts of wine under a physician's prescription. At least, he will be able to do so until the Willis Campbell anti-beer bill receives the sanction of Congress. There is some opposition to this measure and it is felt that now that the sale of beer and wine is permitted under the new regulations it will be a hard matter for the advocates of the Willis measure to secure favorable action upon it. Secretary Mellon has been holding back these regulations anticipating that Congress would pass the anti-beer bill, but he has received demands from brewers throughout the country in such numbers calling for their issuance that he yielded to their importunities yesterday afternoon.

Representative Zihlman, of Maryland has a piece of fruit cake baked in 1872 by Mrs. S. F. Stull, of Frederick, Md., and which he prizes very highly. Several of his friends, except those with "store" teeth are anxious to taste it, but the Congressman says he cannot play favorites and he has not enough to go round.

One piece of the cake was placed in the watchcase of Mrs. Stull's adopted son, Russell, and he carried it through the World War as a talisman. He came home safely after taking part in many of the big engagements in France.

Another section of the cake was given to President Wilson when he married Mrs. Galt nearly six years ago, and another portion to "Billy" Sunday when he conducted his evangelistic campaign in Washington some years ago.

Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah, is tall, lanky, rather indifferent to the fashions of clothes and has not much the appearance of a Senator of the classics or of fiction. Unhindered, and to most everybody unknown, the Senator made the rounds of the Treasury Department yesterday and stopped now and then to look into some of the offices. He was horrified to find in one large room several of the girl workers dancing during a dull period of the day while others were busy knitting, presumably preparing some Christmas gift. Filled with righteous indignation, the Utah Senator made a

GOOD ROADS MEETING AT ANNANDALE

Delegation From Chamber of Commerce Tonight
Will Attend

PROMINENT SPEAKERS

Seek to Improve Highway Between Alexandria and Fairfax Courthouse Distance of Fourteen Miles.

Among the speakers scheduled to make addresses tonight at the annual meeting at Annandale Hall, Fairfax county, in the interest of the construction of a road between this city and Fairfax Courthouse, a distance of fourteen miles, are Gov. Westmoreland Davis, Representative E. Walton Moore, State Senator Walter T. Oliver and Franklin Williams, the last named of the state highway commission and Col. J. Y. Williams, of this city.

The funds for the road are ready to be allotted by the state of Virginia it is announced.

A delegation of about forty members of the chamber of commerce headed by Mayor J. M. Duncan will attend the meeting. A special committee for that purpose has been named by President W. A. Smoot. All persons interested in the construction of this road are invited to attend.

The local delegation will leave at 6:45 o'clock this evening from in front of the chamber of commerce. Gov. Davis will arrive in Alexandria at 8 o'clock and leave with the local delegation.

It is expected that following the addresses tonight a petition will be circulated calling upon the state highway commission to build this stretch of roadway. The construction of this roadway would be of considerable benefit to the commercial interests of the city and bring the people from the rural districts into Alexandria and also result in the upbuilding of that section of Fairfax county.

BEER MUST BE PERMITTED ON PRESCRIPTION

Secretary Mellon Says Use
As Medicine Cannot Legally Be Refused

TWO PINTS A DAY

Two Quarts of Wine May Also Be Allowed Same Patient at the Same Time.

Washington, Oct. 25.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon lifted the lid today on the manufacture and sale of beer for medicinal purposes. Deciding not to wait longer the passage of the pending Anti-Beer bill by Congress, Mr. Mellon issued rigid regulations for the manufacture of beer by authorized breweries and its sale by druggists upon an authorized physician's prescription. Not more than two and one-half gallons of beer may be prescribed at one time for use by the same person.

The revised regulations limit the prescription of whisky and brandy to ten pints, of wine to two quarts and of alcohol for external use to one pint at a time. Druggists are directed to refuse to fill prescriptions if convinced they are issued for other medicinal than purposes.

"The issuance of the beer regulations," Mr. Mellon explained, "was delayed originally because it seemed probable that legislation would be enacted whereby the action of the department would be of no practical advantage to those interested, and this view appeared to be acquiesced in by them, since there was at that time no urgent demand for the issuance of the regulations."

"However, for some time past, it has been strongly urged by those interested that this department had no right longer to withhold these regulations, and that in so doing the department is denying to those interested their clear legal right and thereby imposing serious loss upon them. The legal rights of the parties concerned being plain, the department is unable longer to delay the issuance of these regulations."

In some quarters it is predicted that the action of the Administration will strengthen the opposition to the Anti-Beer bill and cause a substantial defeat. The bill is pending in the Senate in the form of a conference report, but has been laid aside until the Tax bill is passed.

His backers assert it will be brought forward again.

Representative Vreeland was so flabbergasted when he heard Mr. Mellon had tilted the lid on medicinal beer that he gasped, "I don't believe it," and would say no more.

The same reasons for withholding the regulations now have been advanced for several weeks past," was all that could be elicited from Wayne B. Wheeler, counsel for the Anti-Saloon League.

FOUR PERSONS INJURED

Dr. A. B. Penn Among Those Hurt
In Auto Smash

Four people were injured when a truck of the Hyde and Baxter Contracting Company, coming down the hill near Clark's station along the Columbia pike, Arlington county, was struck by the automobile occupied by Dr. A. B. Penn, colored, of Alexandria, Va., at Military Road. Penn's machine was struck by the rear of the truck and he was following it. The truck in trying to avoid the accident swerved to the right and ran down a fifteen-foot embankment.

Alfred Gruff, colored, of Fredericksburg, Va., riding on the truck, sustained breaks and cuts about the head and face. He was rushed to the Emergency Hospital. Dr. Penn was severely cut by flying glass and sustained body bruises. Maude Williams, colored, 1436 Q street, northwest, Washington, a nurse accompanying Dr. Penn on an emergency call, was badly bruised.

Ross, the only occupant of the third machine, was shaken up.

The driver, George Thomas, Collins, 325 Prospect Avenue northwest, Washington, was arrested by Sheriff Clements, of Arlington county.

Kindergarten Postpones Re-opening Till Next Year

A meeting of the board of directors of the Alexandria Kindergarten Association was held last night at 301 South St. Asaph street, at which time ways and means were discussed regarding the opening of the kindergarten. Owing to the fact that it is utterly impossible to find a suitable room for the kindergarten at this time, the members of the board decided to wait until next year when they hope to be more successful.

TO MOVE COMMERCE

Representatives of Business Organizations Prepare For Rail Tie Up

Richmond, Va., Oct. 25.—Acting on the suggestion of Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, Governor Westmoreland Davis yesterday morning summoned to Richmond 28 of the Chambers of Commerce of the State for the purpose of devising ways and means for keeping the channels of commerce open in the event of the railroad workers making good their threat to go on strike next Sunday. Many of those thus notified came to this city, and the result was that an organization was formed, which is to be known as the Virginia Public Interest Committee, which has changed its name with the responsibility of furnishing means of transportation, other than those provided by the railroads, if the members of the various railroad unions affected actually quit work.

Capt. George H. Evans, business manager of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce, and Charles W. King, also of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce, were delegates from Alexandria.

When the delegates assembled at the office of the State's chief executive, Governor Davis addressed them briefly advising them that every available means of transportation, if the strike be declared, should be mobilized and utilized, and offered a few suggestions as to the manner in which an organization might be effected. The Governor then told the delegates that he desired to draw from the meeting, in order that they might give free expression to their opinions, and, when requested to remain and participate in the discussions, replied that he was inclined to believe that the service which the national government evidently expected the State organizations to render in the emergency should occur, could best be handled by those occupying positions in private life. He pointed out that the business men in touch with the machinery of organization, and with the conditions likely to confront the State, if it calamity involved in a strike of railroad men should visit it, could doubtless be handled more quickly and efficaciously by men in intimate touch with the problems in which they were themselves involved.

After the Governor had retired, it was decided to form a State organization, composed of city units, the nucleus to be made up of a committee selected from the delegates.

The committee was instructed to call, immediately after their return to their home cities, meetings of the organizations which they represented in order that the work of organization of transportation facilities might be gotten under way at once. It was the consensus that all individuals and organizations not represented at the conference should be asked to lend their patriotic cooperation.

The Virginia Public Interest Committee organized by choosing J. R. A. Hobson, of the Manufacturers' Association, of Richmond, as president, and W. T. Dabney, business manager of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce, as secretary.

The general committee will be composed of representatives of every Chamber of Commerce and business organization in the cities and towns of Virginia. As a means of effecting the Virginia Public Interest Committee, the following resolution was passed:

"That each organization in the State contribute immediately $25, and that each member of its organization contribute a rate sum not to exceed $5,000, based on membership."

The hour for the meeting of the League of Women Voters tonight has been changed from 8 till 7 o'clock tonight. All members of the league are urged to attend. Attorney General Plans Harmony of Effort and Concerted Action

LAW MAY BE INVOKED

Daughterly Preparing for Emergency. May Resort to Conspiracy Laws.

Washington, Oct. 25.—A program for "concerted action and harmony of effort" to prevent a tie-up of the transportation facilities of the country in the event of a railroad strike was decided upon today by Attorney-General Daugherty in conference with United States District Attorneys from five cities.

The District Attorneys who met with the Attorney General were: Woodard, of New York; Clyne, of Chicago; Werts, of Cleveland; Lockwood, of Buffalo, and Van Noy, of Indianapolis. They are to confer with Mr. Daugherty again tomorrow, when instructions are to be sent other District Attorneys to govern their actions in the event of a strike.

Professing his disbelief in the possibility of a general railroad strike materializing, Mr. Daugherty declared the conference was called for an "understanding in any emergency." Beyond mention of the conspiracy laws, he did not discuss the details of the department's plans, but indicated that it was believed, on the strength of Supreme Court decisions, that the Government has the inherent right to protect itself from a paralysis of the country's transportation facilities and the power to use any laws applicable to accomplish that end.

"The District Attorneys came here," Mr. Daugherty said, "for a conference and an understanding in any event and in any emergency. I still don't believe there will be a strike, but it is the duty of the Department of Justice to be prepared in any emergency for prompt action if necessary."

"Uniformity of proceeding and policy was determined upon in any event. They came to discuss fully the various plans of the department in the event of a strike."

"We did not discuss the merits of matters in dispute between the railroads and the employees who have threatened to strike. The Department of Justice takes the position that it has nothing to do with the merits of the controversy and probably at no time would the merits enter into its policy."

"The department probably would concede that the men have the right to strike; that they even have the right to strike in groups. But it would not say they can strike in groups throughout the country without violating the conspiracy laws by antagonizing the Government of the United States."

"The department would not concede there would be violations of the conspiracy statutes for a great body of men all over the country to agree to paralyze its transportation facilities. The department would say they could strike peaceably, but when it comes to the Government's interests and the interests of the public in these facilities the Government has the power, right and duty to see that the owners of the railroads give the American people the service they are entitled to."

"More people are interested in the transportation facilities than there are in the controversy, regardless of who is right or who is wrong. This conference was for the purpose of obtaining concerted action and harmony of effort to the end that the railroads may give continued service without any interruption and in order that the public may be served."

"It is the duty of the department to provide for the transportation for people who travel and the transportation of food and fuel with winter coming on. The Government has the power and ample authority. It will be prompt and as reasonable as it can be, but these arteries of commerce must continue to serve the people. Property must be protected, life preserved and order maintained, and the Government is big enough to see that this is accomplished."

Before meeting with the district attorneys Mr. Daugherty called at the White House and is understood to have received President Harding's approval of the department's plans.

CIVIC BUREAU OF C. C.

Reports Submitted On Various Matters of Interest at Meeting Held Last Night.

Twenty-two bronze signs are to be obtained by the civic bureau of the chamber of commerce which will mark the various points of interest in the city. Work of preparing the inscriptions which are to go on the signs is now being prepared according to an announcement made last night at the civic bureau of the chamber of commerce by Rev. Dr. E. B. Jackson, who is chairman of the committee in charge of the plans for the signs. Many private residences of historic interest in different sections of the city are to be marked which will be of considerable benefit to the tourists visiting Alexandria.

The bureau discussed the improvement of sidewalks now being made in the city and the committee composed of James Bayne, A. D. Brockett and Page Waller reported that the work of repairing sidewalks in bad condition is progressing satisfactorily.

A report was made that the new lighting system would be installed at the upper end of King street at once.

W. T. Clarkson and Division Superintendent McMahon, of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, appeared in reference to the telephone service and they said they were willing to co-operate in any way possible to improve the service.

A committee composed of Capt. George H. Evans and E. A. Feldkeller, was named to confer with Postmaster Smith relative to the mail service in the city.

STATE NEWS

Suffolk—Thomas Old, a veteran hunter in the Dismal swamp, has found a queer old hand-made spade which he believes to have been one of the tools used by George Washington and his force when the Washington Ditch was being dug. The spade is of heavy old iron, curiously shaped, and weighs twice as much as the ordinary spade of the present day. Marks on the tool indicate that it was used a century or more ago. Mr. Old also found two curiously carved Indian pipes, made of cypress or cedar, and carved with Indian signs.

Purcellville.—Both the Democratic and Republican parties are holding political meetings in this county. Miss Josephine Sizer, of Richmond, is in Leesburg this week in the interest of the Democratic party, having been sent here from the headquarters at Richmond. She is doing much to interest the woman voters of the town and meetings are being held at private homes, where the issues of the campaign are discussed and explained. A large Democratic meeting is arranged for Friday evening, October 28, at Purcellville, at which time Governor Westmoreland Davis, of Virginia, will be the principal speaker. Other speakers at this time will be Senator Beverly, Col. Hall and H. L. Keen.

Danville.—Nearly thirty dairyman and milk producers who purvey their produce in Danville held a meeting here yesterday to discuss the local milk situation, and particularly how to restore public confidence in the supply which, they said, had been dealt a sharp blow by the recent report by representative of the State Board of Health, who blamed the typhoid fever epidemic on milk.

AN INDUSTRIAL REPUBLIC

The great corporation known as Swift and Company is well worth a little study. It may be said to be an industrial republic, in its principles, its practices, and its administration. More than 40,000 men and women have invested their savings in shares of the company, of whom some twenty thousand are employees. There is a pension plan, adopted in 1916, which provides for retirement in old age, for the loss of employment by reason of injuries, and for a death benefit to the family. Every employee is guaranteed a minimum of forty hours' pay per week, whether he works that time or not. In the weeks in which holidays occur, the minimum is 33 1-2 hours. In case of a temporary rush of business, time and a half is paid for work over ten hours in any one day. On Sundays and holidays, when work is necessary, double time is allowed.

In 1919, about 85 1-2 cents out of every dollar spent for live stock, went for the animal; 13 cents went for wages and freight, and the profit was about 1 1-2 cents. In 1920 the profit was about 1 1-6 cents on every dollar of sales, which was less than 7 per cent on the invested capital. In 1919 the average yearly consumption of meat per person was about 180 pounds. The average profit made by Swift and Co., was 1-4 of a cent per pound. The average profit made by the Company per person issuing their meats was 45 cents per year. As the average family in the U. S. consists of 4 1-2 persons, the profit per family was $2.02 for the year, or about 4 cents per family per week. Of the total slaughter of live stock in the U. S., Swift and Co.'s volume of cattle was 13 per cent; of calves, 12.36 per cent; of sheep, 28.52 per cent; and of hogs, 10.28 per cent.

Under strict government supervision the products must come up to a fixed standard or they are not permitted to go on the market. Besides, among the big packers competition is keen, and quality in food-stuffs is fully as important, as price, or even more so.

There are a total of 393 slaughtering plants inspected by the federal government. Five packers own 69 of this number, and Swift and Company own 33.

The relations between the management and the wage-workers are harmonious, because founded on a man-to-man treatment. They have their legislative, executive and judicial departments, and this is why we call the great corporation of Swift and Company an industrial republic. When all business is founded on these lines strikes will be unheard of, and all disagreements simply family matters to be adjusted among the members. The public will be the gainers as well as the wage-earners and the wage-payers, and this is or should be the ideal condition striven for in all the complex relations of human existence.

Graceful Lines
In a Comfort Shoe

Most shoes distort the foot because they are wrongly shaped. They bind the muscles, retard circulation, and frequently cause fallen arches, corns and bunions. Many physical ills and nervous disorders are directly traceable to incorrectly shaped and fitted shoes.

Without departing from harmony in line, the Cantilever Shoe conforms to the natural contour of the foot—gives correct space for each portion of the foot—distributes the body weight without strain over the heel, the ball, and outside of the foot—flexes with the instep, sustains the arch without use of appliances, gives firm, restful support to the small bones of the foot.

Because the foot is correctly fitted in Cantilever Shoes, one walks with an easy-swinging carriage—a natural charm of movement.

EPSOM SALTS LIKE
GLASS OF LEMONADE

If you want epsom salts without the awful taste and nausea, ask your druggist for a handy package of "Epsomade Salts" which looks and acts exactly like epsom salts because it is real epsom salts combined with fruit derivative salts, giving it a taste of sparkling lemonade.

Take a tablespoonful in a glass of cold water whenever you feel bilious, headachy or constipated. "Epsomade Salts" is the much talked of discovery of the American Epsom Association.

WASHINGTON

Day by Day

report of the affair and now there is great consternation among the female clerks of the Treasury Department for fear they will be placed on the rack and perhaps lose their jobs.

William Allen West of Seat Pleasant, Md., who has been blind for 20 years, is the champion producer in the cord inserting department of Uncle Sam's mail bag factory. Recently West established a record of 350 bags for one day's work, and his average is 325 every day, the same as other workers who have their sight.

West has been inserting cords in government mail bags since 1917. Prior to that time for years he was a champion broom maker. It is interesting to note that before the war, a day's work at cord inserting of mail bags was about 250. During the war this was speeded up to 300. But West went after a record and established the star mark. However, he felt it would be too much of a strain to maintain that output daily, so he compromised by inserting daily cords in 325 bags. As a consequence, the other workers are now turning out the same number.

Much has been said and written about the art monstrosities—canvases and statuary—erected in the public buildings and parks here commemorating famous men and notable events. In the large canvas in the main rotunda at the Capitol which depicts Washington resigning his commission as Commander-in-Chief of the American Army at Annapolis, Dec. 23, 1783, two young girls are shown in the foreground of the picture, one of whom has three hands prominently displayed. One of the arms of the girl is thrown around the waist of her chum and the hand is conspicuous. Two other arms and hands are also shown. This picture is one of the famous canvases at the Capitol and is always pointed out by the guides to tourists.

Babys Milk Should Be Pasteurized For Safety

While many people, especially those who have been brought up in the country and kept cows, state that they prefer the taste of raw milk to that which has been pasteurized, there is no doubt but that pasteurized milk is safer for babies, specialist in the United States Department of Agriculture believe. Baby will like it as well as any substitute for the mother's milk, and will be much less liable to stomach upsets and intestinal disorders, caused by bacteria.

Slight warmth is very favorable to the growth of bacteria, which multiply incredibly fast if milk is not cooled as soon as possible after it is drawn. Pasteurization or holding of milk at a temperature of 145 degrees Fahrenheit for 30 minutes is the best method known for destroying a large percentage of the bacteria without undesirably changing the chemical constituents.

A baby's milk is most conveniently pasteurized once a day in the nursing bottles into which has been measured the quantities needed for each feeding. There is then no likelihood of contamination by pouring it into other bottles. A wire or tin basket that holds the bottles upright makes possible to handle them all at time and without scalding the fingers. The tops of the bottles are plugged with clean cotton, and a thermometer inserted in one of them. The bottles in the wire basket are lifted into a pail and surrounded with water nearly to the level of the milk. When the thermometer registers 145 degrees Fahrenheit in the milk, the bottles are removed, and cold water added to the pail until the temperature is also 145 degrees Fahrenheit. The bottles are put back, covered with a bath towel or other heavy cloth, and allowed to stand for at least 30 minutes. Rapid cooling is done by running cold water into the pail, and finally the bottles are set in the refrigerator till needed.

Orange juice given babies when on pasteurized milk will make up for any loss which the heating caused the scurvy-preventing power of the vitamins of the milk.

SATURDAY, OCT. 23, 1813.

On the very day set apart by the President and his Congress for Thanksgiving and Prayer, Commodore Perry achieved his brilliant victory upon the Lake. This remarkable circumstance did not escape the attention of many discerning democrats and brought forth sundry wise and comfortable prognostications—But notwithstanding all this; the unbelieving Federalists would not agree to receive it as evidence that the war was a righteous one, and that the Lord had gone up against Canada with us. Like the scribes and Pharisees of old, though in the midst of miracles; they required a sign—and now they have it; not, it is true, the sign of the prophet, Jonas; but as much like it as a Club is like a whale.

HOME FOLK'S COLUMN
By R. S.

A Dirge
October's woods are red and gold,
October's skies are clear and blue,
As straying down those paths of old,
I share life's mysteries with you.

But Heart o' Mine, since left alone,
The skies are grey; the leaves are bare
The whispering wind dies in a moan,
Dear Heart o' Mine—with you not here.

Don't worry if the road seems rough,
Don't drop your pack, nor murmur
"drat it!"
The only way to climb a hill,
Is everlasting keeping at it.

It may seem strange to you, as it does to me, for an outsider, as it were, to drop upon you from somewhere, and tell the ladies in Alexandria how to cook! When I think of how Virginia was noted, far back in colonial days, for the excellence of her cuisine, yea when Kansas, my native state was yet a howling wilderness, I say, when I am reminded of this, my heart sorta fails me. I think of the effect this column will have on its readers when I try to tell 'em how to spread Johnny's bread to best advantage, or how to stretch one pound of beefsteak to two by the addition of flour, or crumbs of whatnot.

In days gone by, recipes were sacred possessions. To be sure, there was always the family cook book which covered everything in kitchen dom, even to the biblical multitude of sins. I'm quite sure we have all had the same experience, we women of today who were children of yesterday. About the quickest and surest route to recovery when convalescent, was to tease mother to let us look at her cook book which was guarded, next to the Family Bible, with religious zeal and fervor. And we'd read recipes till our ailing tongues would water at the prospect of strange new dishes, some of which were highly improbable, if not impossible. She always put us off with "wait until you're well," or "we'll have to ask the doctor."

In every community will be found locally famous cooks, each having her specialty some particular viand. Back in the little town, it was Maggie Holly's ginger cookies. Mrs. Lake's potato salad, "Rhody" Riggle's pickle and so on down the line. These were swapped and copied and passed on—so it occurs to me that this is just what we can make this department—a "Passin' on" affair. And if the best pickle maker, the best ginger bread baker, the best salad artist will only realize what a blessing one little recipe might be to some sister houseworker, we will soon have the best and most practical culinary department outside of expensive cook editions.

As a reminder: Keep a pair of sharp scissors and a small pot of library paste handy. It is a simple matter to clip helpful suggestions and file them for future reference.

There is an old joke which once went the rounds of the variety theatre. "What is the difference," it began, "between a tramp, a freight train, and a sandwich." The answer came back, "the train rides a steel, the tramp steals a ride—The sandwich 'Oh, that's what you bite on.'"

We all like to "bite" on sandwiches, and so popular has this species of refreshment become, the method of preparation differs somewhat from the day the sandwich made its debut—a thick slice of ham and mustard between two thicker slices of bread, or a bakery bun.

The tempting pink pimento and cheese filling makes a satisfying sandwich to serve with coffee when the tang of autumn is in the air. Mash cream cheese to a smooth paste, cream with a teaspoonful of mayonnaise, add one or two minced pimentos, and spread liberally upon the crustless triangles or rounds of thinly sliced bread.

The above may be tastily varied by the addition of minced olive, celery or sweet pickle.

A hearty sandwich filling the men of the family will enjoy in their carried lunches, is made by running left-over boiled or roast beef or pork through the food chopper, mixing with hard boiled egg, and moistening with the indispensable salad dressing.

One little trick not known to every good cook, is the creaming of peanut butter. Stir in a few drops of cold water at a time, and beat with a fork until the consistency of whipped cream has been attained. It will be found much more delicate for sandwich filling than the concentrated product so generally employed for this purpose.

Tomato preserves make an attractive filling for thin slices cut from rounds of steamed brown bread, and nut bread.

One mother converted the ordinary egg sandwich, so popular among our working men, into a tasty omelette sandwich for her school kiddies. They always asked for more.

Now that our conversation has run into sandwiches, I must tell about a friend of mine who was known for "new wrinkles" that appeared. At an entertainment she gave where light refreshments were served, a dainty plate was passed to each guest bearing the delicate coffee cup and perfectly beautiful cake. There was light and dark cake, and the most wonderful white layer cake imaginable, with a pale yellow filling. We all pulled off the same bonehead, and saved this exquisite. A square loaf was trimmed of all crust, sliced evenly, spread with butter and placed in layers. Then pressure is brought to bear, not sufficient to mash, but to hold firmly, and the whole cut with thin, sharp knife. Any other filling may be used to taste.

I conclusion, I wonder if it wouldn't be a good thing to make this an Oh-Be-Joyful column. A corner where all may come to iron out the wrinkles of every day life, and to gain a foot hold for a joyous beginning of another day.

SPORTS

The Triangle Sport Club, of this city, defeated the strong team of the Olympic Juniors of Washington, D. C., Sunday on the High School grounds, the score was 30 to 0. Davis and Blunt made the touchdowns for the Triangles. The Olympics never endangered the Triangles Goal line. Practice will be held every night this week on the corner of Fayette and Queen street, at 7 o'clock.

The Triangle Sport Club will also play the George Mason High School Reserves today at 4:30 p. m. on the grounds of the latter at Lloyd Station. This game promises to be a fight from start to finish.

Joe Zbyski, the wrestler shown above, of Boston, issues a challenge to any local wrestler, or any number of wrestlers, for a bout to be arranged at the Opera House or Armory. Zbyski strips at 165 pounds, but will take on all comers, regardless of weight, or two or three of them the same evening. Any ambitious wrestler of Alexandria or vicinity who will apply at the Gazette office can meet Zbyski.

Young Stecker, a Nebraska farmer boy will meet any local boy at 145 or 150 pounds. He and Zbyski called

Carbon is Bad Medicine for your Automobile

AS THE weather changes from cool to cold, motorists generally use a richer mixture. Then carbon accumulates fast, because a motor can't burn up more gasoline in winter than in summer. The surplus either stays in the motor as carbon, fouls the lubricating oil, or is discharged half-burned into the muffler.

Prevention of heavy carbon deposits requires a gasoline that vaporizes well in cold weather; one that can be depended on to ignite promptly and burn up quickly and completely under all climatic conditions.

"Standard" Motor Gasoline meets these requirements. It is a well-balanced, improved gasoline. By the utilization of crude petroleum from many sources, combined with perfected refining processes, "Standard" Motor Gasoline always assures quick starts and exceptional pulling power, using a lean, clean-burning mixture.

This improved "Standard" Motor Gasoline is now available wherever you see the "S.O." sign. You might as well have the best. It costs no more. You won't have to worry about carburetor adjustments, once you get "tuned up" to "Standard" Motor Gasoline, because it is as uniform as nature and science can make it.

Lubrication with Polarine is both effective and cheap.

LITTLE STORIES OF
THE STREETBy
The Man About Town

I came to Alexandria
From the "City of Brotherly Love," Where no man knows his next door neighbor.
Or gives a darn.
I went to the bank
To find the shutters tightly drawn.
For it was three o'clock by the Ingersoll
And the bank was closed.
I turned to walk away,
When someone one called across the street
And a man came running just to tell me
That I could get in.
I tapped on the shutter,
As my new found friend instructed,
and A pretty girl left her desk and with a smile
Unlocked the heavy door.
I transacted my business
And went away with a feeling in my heart
That I can't express in high sounding words,
But there is a difference.
For in Philadelphia,
Which is called the "City of Brotherly Love,"
I might have knocked until the stars came out
And then grow cold,
And not a single soul
Would have walked across the street.
To help a stranger whom he didn't know
From old man Adam.

No, we don't owe any apologies to K. C. B. For we were hammering out this particular brand of dope on a middle western paper before the intitled celebrity emigrated from the Pacific coast to win a national reputation in the Big Town. Just as Bradshaw did his "Bit o' Verse" before Walt Mason slapped his branding iron on doggerel and claimed it hide, hoof and hair.

Two little girls, evidently twins, were in a down-town barber shop getting their customary bi-weekly bob.
The job finished, they took turns before the mirror surveying the net results of the tonsorial operation. The Knight of the Shears jokingly asked:
"Which of you girls is the older?"
"Margie is," flashed the demure miss of some thirteen summers, because mother says that she reached our house fifteen minutes before I did.

The National Surety Company of New York, which insures banks from monetary losses due to criminal depredations, advocates the passage of a Federal law prohibiting the manufacture, sale, importation and possession of any fire-arm measuring less than three feet in length. The elimination of the pocket gun would tend to decrease crime materially and with the proposed penalty of ten years imprisonment it would doubtless prove effective.

Shortly we may see the guardians of life and property in our city, patrolling the streets equipped with modern scatter guns and we assume that a handful of blue whistlers would prove an effective check to any male-factor attempting to evade their clutches.

The big-mouth black bass are bitting all along the lower reaches of the Potomac. Big catches have been made in Piscataway, Pohick, Matowoman and Hunting creeks. Those who angle for the water-tiger with fly casters tackle will find a large yellow hackle most effective. The artificial bait crank can pin his faith on a wiggling pork-rind and the Dowagiac rainbow.
For the fellow with the long cane pole, live smelt is the one best bet. And these crisp October days make a day in the open doubly enjoyable.

The rabbit season will soon be with us and 'Burr Cotton-tail' is reported to be thickly populating the covers.
The Nimrods of the town are wont to gather at R. E. Knight's to discuss past performances and future possibilities. Talking about rabbits here is a new one we heard the other day.

A Methodist minister, with a fond nest for chicken spent a week with an agricultural member of his flock.
Rabbits were plentiful and the farmer's boys kept the table well stocked with the victims of their deadly guns.
They had rabbit stewed, rabbit fried, rabbit baked and rabbit pie. Naturally the visiting parson was expected to say grace and he did. Surveying the pile of daintily fried rabbit, he folded his hands and said:

"We have had rabbit hot and rabbit cold, rabbit young and rabbit old, rabbit tender and rabbit tough, and now I thank the Lord that we have had rabbit enough."

He got the chicken.

Senator W. T. Oliver stood in front of the historic old Fairfax courthouse swapping yarns with a prominent member of the local bar. Although hale and hearty and apparently in the pink of condition the veteran campaigner carried an excessively heavy cane.

"Not suffering with rheumatism are you, Senator?" queried the Alexandrian exponent of Blackstone.

"No sir! I never felt better," replied the Senator with a twinkle in his eye.

"But I see you carrying a cane—"

Simply my individual protest against the eighteenth amendment," chuckled the well known anti-pro advocate. "You see, Charles Henry, it is bad enough to deprive a gentleman of his toddy, but it would be adding insult to injury were he forced to submit passively to being searched for that precious commodity." The Senator smiled and shook a wicked stick.

This is my visible protest against search and seizure."

The mysterious stranger who recently died in Alexandria was identified as a resident of Chester in the State of Pennsylvania. It is said he died from the effects of an internal application of mountain dew. We don't believe that possible. Not if he came from Chester.

We have sampled the Chester variety. It is worse than that. A Chester citizen employed in an extensive acid plant had the bad luck to plunge head first into a vat of dilute sodium sulphide. He came out spitting and spluttering. The superintendent rushed to the scene to discover that the man had escaped injury. "How does it taste, Joe?" questioned the grim faced executive.

"About like the whisky they sell at Mike McCool's," growled Joe between gulps of hydrant water. And sodium sulphide is an alkaloid used to remove hair from hides in the tanning process. So we don't think mountain dew could POSSIBLY affect a citizen of Chester.
